Kelp in hot water: II. Effects of warming seawater temperature on kelp quality as a food source and settlement substrate

E. J. Simonson*, A. Metaxas, R. E. Scheibling

*Corresponding author: erika.simonson@dal.ca

Supplement.

Fig. S1. Mean (± 1 SE) C content (% dry wt; n = 3) and N content (% dry wt; n = 3) of blade tissue of Saccharina latissima collected monthly in summer 2013 and 2014 from 8-m depth at Splitnose Point (black squares), and mean daily temperature (°C) at the collection site.